

Additional Information about the Live Well San Diego Security Indicator

SECURITY

Living Safely, the second phase of San Diego County's Live Well San Diego initiative, addresses both the community's perception of overall safety as well as the actual incidence of crime, injury and abuse. This plan is intended to facilitate cooperation and collaboration between public agencies and private sector partners as they develop and align regional policies and programs. Living Safely also communicates a shared policy approach to making communities safer, to ensure that we are traveling in the same direction, in a coordinated approach, toward the same vision. The strategy is focused on achieving three key outcomes to keep San Diego County one of the safest regions in the nation:

The Live Well San Diego Indicator for security measures the number of crimes per 100,000 people reported to law enforcement. This information empowers residents to make their families and communities safer and guides law enforcement's efforts to protect the public.

Find Answers to Your Questions about San Diego County's Public Safety:

County of San Diego's Public Safety Group Website

The links below will direct you to data and resources that will give you a picture of safety in San Diego County.

My question is...

Here's where I can find answers...

What does my community look like in terms of public safety (crime prevention and community information)?

Reported Crimes Mapping Information

What is a Neighborhood Watch, and how do I start one in my area?

Neighborhood Watch Program

Where can I get other criminal justice related information?

Local, State & Federal Criminal Justice Information Links

What is being done to help my kids get from home to school safely?

Safe Routes to School

Where can I get information on emergency preparedness?

ReadySanDiego

What is the County's plan for making San Diego County one of the safest communities in the nation?

County of San Diego Living Safely Strategy & Video